

◀ AllTrack® : Get more of your share.

The industry's first rebate management program designed to coordinate and optimize in-house incentive programs.

Control and collect more rebates.

Did you know that top builders get up to $3200 per home in rebates? The average builder negotiates less than $800 per home in rebates and collects substantially less than that.

HomeSphere's AllTrack software is the industry's first rebate management program specifically designed to help you coordinate and optimize in-house rebate programs offered by supply chain partners with which you already work. So you won't leave anything on the table.

A dedicated account representative will help you leverage AllTrack to gain control of back-end savings as you identify and maximize existing rebate opportunities and, ultimately, collect more.

Don't let another rebate slip through the cracks.

AllTrack will take you from negotiations with manufacturers to managing these contracts in-house with easy-to-use software. Our simple Web-based program, along with comprehensive reporting tools and dedicated AllTrack account management, can help you:

- ▶ Establish total control of the rebate process and maximize payments with a real-time snapshot of all earned and future incentives and unlimited online account access.
- ▶ Analyze current rebates (across divisions and companywide) and uncover opportunities to increase rebate dollars per home.
- ▶ Automatically invoice supply chain partners once all cash incentives have been accounted for, ensuring 100% collection of rebate dollars.
- ▶ Collect more rebate money without increasing the time or work it takes to manage per-house incentives.

HomeSphere is the premier provider of technology-leveraged services to the homebuilding and remodeling industries. As the only company with national reach that uses Web-based technology to deliver a suite of supply chain services, HomeSphere helps homeowners, builders, manufacturers, distributors and contractors connect, compete and uncover advantages more effectively in the marketplace.

Call us today to see how AllTrack can help you control and collect 100% of your rebates! 800-274-2632

www.homesphere.com

HomeSphere®
The Building Universe